

Deliverable 7.2: Establishment of website

The website for the project BONUS MICROPOLL has been established and can be reached under <https://www.io-warnemuende.de/micropoll-home.html>.

Information (news, events, project results, etc.) will be added to the site constantly in the course of the project.

The website aims at giving an interesting and comprehensible overview of the project for a broad range of people, e.g. fellow scientists, journalists, stakeholders, school teachers, students. Most importantly, interested parties can find involved partners and contact possibilities via the website. The project website will inform about sampling campaigns, other project events, and new results and publications. Information about outreach work, such as open days, citizen science events, and monitoring training for interested parties will be published on the website as well. For efficient connection to the BONUS Portal and related microplastics projects, relevant links can be found on the website. Likewise, the website of BONUS MICROPOLL will be linked on the BONUS PROJECTS website.

The homepage address will be made visible on posters, flyers, and other presentations of BONUS MICROPOLL members at scientific and public events. The homepage address will be part of the email signature of at least the coordinator. Further active distribution of the homepage address will take place via email to the members of the end user forum (see communication action plan).